

Summary

The author, by raising the case of Majorie, has asked to waive student loans for those whose career is a teacher, as typically a teacher is incapable of paying the loans.

Teacher in U.S. has income $62,730 per year. that not enough for pay off student loans. This problem do not have only case of Majorie but it repeated with another teacher in every town.

We can solve this problem by forgive student loan debt for teacher after 15 years of teaching in an urban area, or 10 years in rural area. This policy is encourage teacher choose to teach in rural area and attract student to choose this profession. In addition we can use this policy to add number of another important professional such as social worker or doctor and nurse

In the end, this policy can help other people like Majorie. They are not worried if they choose to study teaching profession they have a debt problem.
